Dan Sullivan was sworn in as Alaska's eighth United States Senator on January 6, 2015. He currently serves on the Armed Services; Commerce, Science, and Transportation; Environment and Public Works; and Veterans' Affairs Committees. Prior to his election to the U.S. Senate, Sullivan served as Alaska's Attorney General and Commissioner of the Alaska Department of Natural Resources. Sullivan served in the Administration of President George W. Bush as the U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for Economic, Energy, and Business under Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice. Sullivan also served as a Director in the International Economics Directorate of the National Security Council staff at the White House. Sullivan has a distinguished record of military and national security service. He is currently an infantry officer and Lieutenant Colonel in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve — with over 23 years of service. Sullivan earned a B.A. in Economics from Harvard University and a joint law and Master of Science in Foreign Service from Georgetown University. Dan and his wife Julie Fate Sullivan live in Anchorage, AK, and they have three daughters.
