11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Special Guest Speaker: Larry Sand

President, California Teachers Empowerment Network

Mr. Sand, a former classroom teacher, is one of the most powerful voices in the educational world today. His nonprofit CTEN is dedicated to providing teachers with reliable and balanced information about educational issues --- information teachers will often not get from their districts or unions. In 2011, CTEN expanded its mission to help the general public understand the array of educational issues facing our country today. Mr. Sand's op-eds have appeared in Associated Press, Wall Street Journal, Real Clear Politics, The Weekly Standard, Sacramento Bee, Newsweek, and numerous other publications. He has blogged at Union Watch since 2010 and in May 2011 became a regular contributor to City Journal, the Manhattan Institute's policy publication. Mr. Sand has appeared on numerous broadcast news programs and talk radio shows in Southern California and nationally.
