Speaker: Internationally-known author, filmmaker and public speaker Trevor Loudon

Praised by Glenn Beck that “does the job few in the media ever attempt”, Trevor Loudon has researched radical left, Marxist and terrorist movements and their covert influence on mainstream U.S. politics for over 30 years.

Loudon’s hard-hitting political documentary, the Enemies Within, was released in 2016. In collaboration with the Capital Research Center, Loudon co-created a series of mini-documentaries free to the public.

America Under Siege: Civil War 2017

America Under Siege: Soviet Islam

America Under Siege: Antifa

Loudon discovered the long-hidden relationship between notorious Hawaiian Communist Party member Frank Marshall Davis and the young Barack Obama in 2007. In 2009 Loudon exposed the communist roots of Obama “Green Jobs Czar” Van Jones. After an extensive campaign by Glenn Beck and others, Jones was forced to resign from his White House position.

Loudon’s research has given him unique insights into how extensively often, the communists have been able to manipulate, and even control the formation of policies in many free countries- particularly their “main enemy”- the United States. Loudon’s truth-telling speech reveals this looming threat will not only affect America’s national security, but indeed her very survival.
