Program part 2:

Speaker: Jan Miller, President and Co-Founder of Citizens Against Homicide

Topic: I Am Mad As Hell and Don't Want to Take It Anymore!

In March 2019, Gov. Gavin Newsom signed an executive order . . . putting a moratorium on the death penalty in California; he called it the culmination of a personal, 40-year journey.

Jan Miller is the president and Co-Founder of Citizens Against Homicide. CAH is a non-profit, public benefits organization based in Marin County, California. The group supports the friends and families of homicide victims by honoring the deceased, advocating for families seeking criminal justice for the murder of their loved ones, and supporting crime legislation that keeps the citizenry safe.

CAH was co-founded in 1994 by Jane Alexander, whose thirteen-year search for the murderer of her 88 year old aunt inspired the book CITIZEN JANE, and by Jan Miller, whose 19 year old daughter, Veronica, was murdered in 1984 in a case that remains unsolved. By 1998, the group had become active in all 50 States and had a mailing list into the thousands. The group's membership actively assists the prosecution of murderers by writing to block the parole of convicted murderers and providing advice to families about the criminal justice system. CAH also provides information on pending crime legislation. Visit www.CitizensAgainstHomicide.org.

Jan will share with us the accomplishments that her organization, Citizens Against Homicide, has made over the past 25+ years and why right now SHE IS MAD AS HELL AND DOES NOT WANT TO TAKE IT ANYMORE!
